

Track B: Clinical Science

Laura Waters, United Kingdom

Laura Waters is a genitourinary/HIV consultant and HIV and hepatitis lead at the Central and North West London NHS Foundation Trust's Mortimer Market Centre, London. She works predominantly in HIV outpatient facilities. Laura previously worked in clinical trials at the Chelsea and Westminster Hospital and Brighton and Sussex Clinical Trials Unit, gaining an MD on ART switch. She is currently principle or chief investigator on several antiretroviral trials. She is Chair of the British HIV Association (BHIVA) treatment guidelines, Chair of the BHIVA conferences sub-committee and serves on the BHIVA executive committee. She is the previous Chair of the British Association for Sexual Health and HIV (BASHH) HIV Special Interest Group and sits on the BASHH Board; she is Chair of BASHH and Faculty of Sexual & Reproductive Healthcare sexual and reproductive health guidelines for PLHIV. Laura is on the HIV Clinical Reference Group, advising National Health Service England about HIV care, and on the trials management group of IMPACT, a large PrEP trial. She has published and presented widely, is a regular columnist for Boyz magazine, is a Terrence Higgins Trust trustee and Chair of the Halvelt campaign.